

ROGER

EBERT CENTER

FOR FILM STUDIES

Ebert Symposium: Keynote & Roundtable Discussion

Artificial Intelligence Imagined and Realized

Keynote Speaker: Scott Bukatman, Professor of Film and Media Studies, Stanford University

Bukatman will use science fiction literature, film, and comics to explore how AI helps reveal the “downsides of personality.” (9:30–10:45am)

Roundtable Discussion with Illinois Faculty

University of Illinois faculty (pictured at right) will discuss the intersection between science fiction and engineering. (11am –12:30pm)

Wednesday, April 23

9:30am - 12:30pm

Knight Auditorium, Spurlock Museum, 600 S. Gregory, Urbana

University of Illinois faculty serving as roundtable panelists:

Clockwise from top left: Ben Grosser, Professor of New Media; Heng Ji, Professor of Computer Science; Alison Duncan Kerr, Assistant Professor of Philosophy; and Robert Markley, Professor and Head of the Department of English.

College of Media

media.illinois.edu/EbertSymposium